

CATALINA, ARE YOU READY FOR MOCC?

Yes, folks, there could be a friendly invasion of Catalina on Saturday, July 23, 2022. The plan is to depart from Long Beach aboard the Catalina Express for a one hour and 15 minute trip to the big island. That means all hands at the Long Beach terminal by 7:45 a.m. We will provide travel maps to all participants and it should be easy traveling on an early Saturday morning. A round trip ticket would cost $69.00 per Senior and $76.00 for adults under 55. Now the options for fun include land tours of the island, para-sailing, zip line fun, golf cart rental and touring, visiting the museum, miniature golf, bike rental and shopping till you drop. We are planning a lunch at a fine over-the-water restaurant for 11:30 a.m. Departure for Long Beach will be at 5:45 p.m., with a great sunset trip back to Long Beach.

There is no maximum number of folks to go, but an early reservation on the Catalina Express is an absolute must. You also have the option of staying over on Saturday night and coming back at your leisure. We are sorry to inform you that your Mustang cannot be taken on the ship, but will be safe in a secured parking structure. We hope that you can join us for this first in 43 years cruise both on land and on the sea.
